Casco Bay, June 2d, 1701. A Memorial of the Treaty with the Indians by the Council of the Massachusetts Bay entitled the "Treaty of Bellemont treaty with the Maquas."

I have stated the time of destruction of the fort that stood at the foot of India, then called King street, in Portland, as May, A. D. 1609. The name of the locality appears under different names—Casco, Falmouth, Old Casco, Portland Neck being used at times. In the year of 1700 the locality was desolate, that is to say, no one was residing permanently upon the present site of the City of Portland with a legal title to the land. The Indian, occasional visitors, actuated by curiosity, the exploring governmental official and wild beast roamed at will till the period of A. D. 1718 when a State right for a municipal government was obtained.

The charter called for a tract of land twelve miles square. Much trouble was not in establishing the bounds which, as finally agreed upon included not only the present site of Portland, but the present towns of Falmouth, Cape Elizabeth, Westbrook and South Portland, which is the order in time they severally came into existence by name.

The land where Portland is situated was considered as barren, composed largely of ledge-rock and sand; it was a good place for drying fish but not for agriculture.

In 1701 a Fort had been erected a little easterly of the mouth of the Presumpscot river upon land known as the James Andrews farm. This was done by the Massachusetts government after thorough examination and mature deliberation, and for many years after the removal of the fort the location was known as Fort Point. The order to build was passed in the month of June, A. D. 1700. The place was called New Casco and that of what is now known as Portland Old Casco. But the life of New Casco fort was of comparative short duration, though the local name remained for a period of more than a century.

It was in the month of June, 1703, the English and Indians held a grand council there. The fort was not constructed as a military resort, or place of defence, but more like a trading place, or truck-house as such places were then called. The meeting was attended by the chiefs of the Narragansett, Penobscot, Passamaquoddy, and other tribes. The American Indians comprised about 250 men in 65 canoes.

Twelve propositions were submitted to the English which were discussed at length, but I am obliged to pass all but one.

The twelfth proposition introduced the matter of religious belief which the Indians indignantly repudiated. Their reply in brief was: "We should have explained it and described the religion which we now profess, but now being instructed by the French we have promised to be true to God in our religion, and it is this we propose to stand by."

It seems that a couple years before this a party had been held with the English tribe and an agreement of peace "forever" had been made but this was repudiated by the Indian chief of the conference of that day.

For "perpetual remembrance of our good agreement," it was suggested by the English "that each party should raise a heap of stones."

The Indians said: "We do agree to it, and we understand it is better than signing of a writing."

Two heaps of stones were accordingly raised—the commissioners on the part of the English, each of them laid one upon the square pyramid, and the Indian commissioners each of them laid one upon the square pyramid, and then a small pyramid, to mark the English upon the point.

Formerly called Andrews his point, now known as Andrews point, the stones were raised.

AT THE CAPITOL

Meeting of the State Highway Commission

One of the first official acts of the new highway commission was at its meeting, Thursday, to eliminate from its makeup all suggestions of politics or to adhere to any partisanship whatever, and it was emphatically made clear in the following resolution, that severe partisanship on the part of the employees would not, for a second, be tolerated.

This action on the part of the board will undoubtedly find much favor, and go a long way toward facilitating more efficient administration. The resolution, August 7, 1913, To the People of Maine:

The State Highway Commission, at a regular meeting held at Augusta this day, have unanimously adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS—It is the unequalled purpose of the Commission to eliminate politics throughout its department and to perform its duties in the construction and maintenance of highways by placing its standard for employment on the basis of merit and efficiency, regardless of politics, be it hereby

Resolved, that offensive partisanship on the part of any employee of this department shall be considered a sufficient reason of dismissal, and

Resolved, that all employees of this department shall hereafter be selected solely on a basis of merit and efficiency, and that endorsements of a political nature or for a political purpose will not be considered by the Commission.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION,

By L. H. Nelson, Chairman.

Paul D. Barget, the chief engineer of the department, will assume his duties on August 14. The regular meeting time has been changed to 1 P. M., Thursday, instead of 10 A. M.

Following is the further business transacted at this week's meeting:

Voted that the commission proceed to arrange for designating State highways in the counties of York, Cumberland, Oxford and Sagadahoc as follows:

State Highway "A" being the main traveled route already under construction, extending from Kittery to Portland via York, Hiram, Wells, Kennebunk, Kennebunkport, Biddeford, Saco, Scarborough, South Portland.

State Highway "B" extending from Fryeburg over the main traveled route via Hiram, Naples, Casco, Raymouth, Windham and Westbrook to Portland.

State Highway "C" extending from Portland to Bath via what is known as the Shore Road through Falmouth, Cumberland and Yarmouth, thence to Freeport and Brunswick.

Voted that the acting chief engineer be instructed to have a map prepared, showing the location of the designated highways with respect to other highways, and that he be empowered to employ a neigineer or draftsman for this purpose, if the office force at present constituted is not able to do the work immediately.

Voted that the chairman be authorized and instructed to notify the Governor and Council that the commission is now preparing to designate certain highways in York, Cumberland, Oxford and Sagadahoc counties as State highways, upon which hearings will be duly given as required by law, and that the commission is prepared to promptly begin construction on such highways as soon as they are determined. The commission, therefore, respectfully suggests that the Governor and Council take measures to provide funds for commencing the construction of the above mentioned highways by the issue and sale of bonds as authorized by law, and that the commission be prepared to present to the Governor and Council at a proper time a plan for the expenditure of the money raised from the sale of such bonds in such manner as will conform to the Constitution of the State and as required by Section 50 of Chapter 123 P. L. 1913; that the commission await such action as the Governor and Council may take in this matter prior to commencing the construction of such highways.

As designated above as may be indicated by agreed upon by the commission and Governor and Council.

CUT ORDERED IN EXPRESS RATES

Reductions Will Amount to $26,000,000 Yearly

Reductions in express rates which will cost the companies fully $26,000,000—approximately 10 per cent. of their gross revenue, have been ordered by the Interstate Commerce commission to become effective on or before Oct. 15, 1913. Notable reforms in practices also were ordered.

The most important change prescribed by the order is by way of modification of the present graduated scale of parcel rates. One hundred parcel rates for short distances either have been left unchanged or slightly reduced; for longer distances they have been lowered; for fifty pounds or less all rates have been practically reduced. For packages more than four pounds going more than 200 miles and less than 2,000 the new express rates are generally lower than the parcel post rates; for more than 3,000 miles the rates are practically the same. The report and order of the commission, prepared by Commissioner John H. Marble, are a virtual affirmation of the findings of former Commissioner Franklin K. Lane, now secretary of the interior.

A Block System.

By prescribing a so-called block system dividing the United States into 650 blocks averaging 2,500 square miles as originally proposed by Mr. Lane, the new express rates now published by the express companies will be reduced to less than 650,000 and the Interstate Commerce commission believes that the system points the way to a solution of the existing maze of freight rates.

The general impression in official quarters is that the express companies will attempt to test by legal means the constitutionality of the commission's order.

The requirements of the order of June 8, 1912, that a label should be attached to each parcel is modified to the extent that, in case of shipments of perishable property, consisting of two or more packages, the label need be attached to only one package.

Losses of Revenue.

The express companies had filed statements indicating that the losses of revenue under the proposed rates would be intolerable and argued strenuously that the establishment of the parcel post had deprived them of quite 20 per cent. of the revenue they formerly received from parcels of eleven pounds or less. They contended that the express business could not survive the losses from both sources.

"This is equivalent to saying," comments Commissioner Marble, in his report, "that inasmuch as shippers have been given the convenience and economy of the parcel post the express carriers must, on that account, be allowed to charge higher rates than otherwise would be reasonable. That is to say, the commission is called upon to take from the shippers of the country all the benefits that they receive from the parcel post and give it to the express companies in the form of higher rates upon the remaining business."

New System of Rates.

The new system of rates is not only a simplification of existing rate structures and methods but in the opinion of rate experts lays the foundation for future practice in all rate revision.

While the commission has not considered the practicability of the application of the block system to the making of freight rates, it is known that the question may be taken up almost at any time. With a standard freight rate once established between blocks instead of between points, and all other rates stated in percentages of the standard, the mystery of the present complicated maze of freight rates in the opinion of the commission's experts, would be solved.

The basis of the classification proposed by the commission is that all articles of merchandise of ordinary value are to be carried at first class or ordinary rates, with a few exceptions as second class and are to be carried at 75 per cent. of the first class rate.

The rates for newspapers and periodicals as well as for bread and such articles for which specially low rates now are charged, are substantially the same as the present rates.

A permanent committee has been appointed to revise the rates of express companies.

OXFORD COUNTY PATRIOTIC ASS'N

The members of the Oxford County Patriotic Association held a very interesting meeting at Central Park, So. Paris, on August 6th.

It had been learned that the Relief Corps of Oxford expected to attend in a body, and it was supposed that the president of the association, C. T. Ward, well of Oxford, would appear with a number of people from that town. But no one came from Oxford, and as the vice-presidents of the association were also absent, the business meeting of the association in the forenoon was called to order, on suggestion of some of those present, by Franklin Maxim of South Paris.

The records were read by the secretary, Mrs. Alta Sheen of Norway, and Treasurer A. M. True of Bethel reported the amount in the treasury the same as last year, $9.30, with the addition of a few cents in dividends from the Bethel Savings Bank.

Officers for the coming year were chosen by nomination from the floor as follows:

President—A. H. Hutchinson, Bethel. Vice President—Mrs. Eva L. Fogg, Norway; Mrs. L. A. Rounds, South Paris.

Secretary—Mrs. Alta Sheen, Norway. Treasurer—A. M. True, Bethel. Press Correspondent—Arthur E. Forbes, South Paris.

Entertainment Committee—Mrs. Eva L. Fogg, Mrs. L. A. Rounds, Grinnell, Stuart, Gilman Whitman, Mrs. Alta Sheen, Mrs. J. W. Chase.

The next meeting will be held at the same place on the first Wednesday in August, 1914, according to the vote of the association.

A picnic dinner was eaten, with coffee furnished by Brown Corps of Bethel, and a social hour was enjoyed.

Mr. Maxim who presided at the afternoon session, for which no special program had been arranged, but which was occupied largely by speeches and reminiscences. Several war songs were also sung by the audience, with Mrs. Chase at the piano, and there was a duet by Franklin Maxim and Gilman Whitman.

Col. Wm. T. Knutson of South Paris urged the training of children in patriotism, and rejoiced in a reunited country.

A. M. True of Bethel said that the special day of patriotic citizens is not to recall what we did fifty years ago, but to be willing to-day to sacrifice for the good of the country or the community. He also gave some interesting reminiscences of days in the Shenandoah valley.

Mrs. W. H. Tarbox of Fryeburg, a former president of the state department of the ladies of the G. A. R., who was here especially for this meeting, mentioned the fact that when she was three years of age her father laid down his life on the third day of Gettysburg, and emphasized the importance of the work done by the order of which she was formerly the head in instructing the young in patriotism.

Others who spoke rather briefly regarding the special purpose of the association, or gave reminiscences of the days of the civil war, were J. A. Noyes of South Paris, W. D. Tarbox of Fryeburg, H. H. Maxim of South Paris, Mr. Hunter of Massachusetts, Frank Martin of Randolph, J. H. Bean of South Paris, and E. L. McFarland of South Paris.

FIELD DAY OF THE ROUND TABLE CLUB.

Among the "Brandy Spots" around Bethel one is prettier than the little hotel on the bank of the Androsoggin river, near Fryeburg.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Russell the H. T. C. were allowed to use the place for their meeting which was held on the third day of the week.

After the time remaining was given over to the usual occupations of picnickers, playing, reading, sewing, conversation and most important of all, feasting. A portion of the company went to the top of the ledge and from there to the valley below.

After dinner old familiar songs were sung, Miss Perkins of Bryant's Pond presiding at the organ. Miss Barker of West Paris sang most delightfully, "The Hokey."

It was then proposed that an association of Oxford County and each year a field day should be observed. Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Dudley of Bryant's Pond, president; Mrs. Stratton of Dismal, vice president; Miss Anna Fogg of Bethel, secretary. The executive committee: Miss Jennie Farham, Norbert; Miss Emma Hill, West Paris; Mrs. Howard Smith, Waterford.

POSTMASTER

J. G. BILLINGS

Died Tuesday, August 12

Mr. Jarvis C. Billings passed away Tuesday night, Aug. 12th, after a long illness in which the end was expected at any time.

Mr. Billings was born in North Woodstock, May 8, 1840, the son of Silas and Abigail Billings. He attended the schools of Woodstock and early learned the blacksmith's trade, and at the age of eighteen went to Farmington to pursue his trade.

March 26, 1861, he married Sarah Frances Kilgore, daughter of Freeman and Susan Kilgore. Two children were born to them, Robert, born Aug. 14, 1863, and Alice, born Sept. 13, 1867.

Coming to Bethel in 1863 Mr. Billings bought the Richardson blacksmith shop on Mechanic Street and continued in business as a blacksmith and carriage maker until Aug. 9, 1893, when he was appointed postmaster. He served as selectman of Bethel for several years and resigned as chairman of the board to accept the postmastership.

He was a member of Bethel Lodge, No. 97, F. & A. M., has filled all the chairs and has been D. D. Grand Master; also a member of the Chapter and Council, the I. O. O. F., and K. of P.

Mr. Billings has always been a loyal citizen and has served very acceptably as postmaster from the date of his appointment up to the present time, and is a man that will be greatly missed in the community.

He leaves a widow, who has tenderly cared for him during his sickness, and son, Robert, to mourn his loss. Funeral services will probably be held Friday.

MISS BESSIE MASON.

On Monday evening of this week a telegram brought to Mrs. F. B. Tuell the news of the death of her youngest sister, Miss Bessie Mason, at Pomona, Cal., in the early morning hours of that day.

Miss Mason had had from childhood a latent affection of the heart which had very recently developed in an acute form. During a short and severe illness of about six weeks duration she received the most devoted attention and care in the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Pomona.

Miss Mason was born in Bethel and her childhood and early girlhood years were spent here. Most of her later life was passed in California where she went with her family in 1897. Visits here with her sister have kept her in touch with the people of her native town who hold in pleasant remembrance the sweet, sunny nature which endeared her to all. Her life has been one of much usefulness, devoted to the happiness and well-being of those about her at the will of a singularly unselfish and helpful disposition.

The sense of loss and loneliness is most keen to those who miss the young, devoted member of a devoted family circle, and particularly deep for the two sisters to whose sorrow is added the grief of having been separated from her by the will of the cruellest of deities.

All sympathy is theirs from friends everywhere.

O. E. S. FIELD DAY.

Members of the Bethel O. E. S. and over one hundred other representatives from Eastern Star Chapters of Oxford County attended the field day last week at Bryant's Pond.

The Bryant's Pond chapter had made all possible arrangements to make the day a success. Mrs. Felt very kindly loaned her cottage, which is at the head of Lake Christopher, for the occasion. Boats were procured for the day and plenty of nice coffee was served, each member having brought his own lunch.

After dinner old familiar songs were sung, Miss Perkins of Bryant's Pond presiding at the organ. Miss Barker of West Paris sang most delightfully, "The Hokey."

It was then proposed that an association of Oxford County and each year a field day should be observed. Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Dudley of Bryant's Pond, president; Mrs. Stratton of Dismal, vice president; Miss Anna Fogg of Bethel, secretary. The executive committee: Miss Jennie Farham, Norbert; Miss Emma Hill, West Paris; Mrs. Howard Smith, Waterford.

Upson as baritone a great treat is in store for every music lover, and the talented Miss Barker as reader, of whom the late Henry L. Chapman, D. D., L. L. D., Professor of English literature at Bowdoin college said: "Her dramatic power, her intelligent sympathy, her admirable elocution and her stage presence, all impressed me with her gifts as a reader."

HOME.

"Let home stand before all other things! No matter how high your ambition may transcend its duties, no matter how far your talents or your influence may reach beyond its doors, before everything else build a true home. Be not its slave; be its master! Let it not be enough that it is sweet and garnished, that its silver is brilliant, that its food is delicious, but feel the love in it, feel thought and aspiration, feed all charity and gentleness in it. Then from its walls shall come forth the true woman and the true man, who shall through rule and bless the land." Is this an overwrought picture? We think not. What honor can be greater than to found such a home? What dignity higher than to reign its undisputed mistress? What is the ability to speak from a public platform to large intelligent audiences, or the wisdom that may command a seat on the judge's bench, compared to that which can insure and preside over a true home, that husband and children "rise and call her blessed?" To be the guiding star, the ruling spirit in such a position is higher honor than to rule an empire.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING.

"I used to be ashamed if a particle of dust could be found anywhere in my house," said a notable housekeeper. "But lately I have changed my ideals and my methods. I have realized that I am growing older, and that I have been giving too much of my life merely to keeping things clean. Now I am trying to make them whole, and I am getting benefit and satisfaction from it."

The statement will doubtless shock some conscientious woman who is struggling, perhaps beyond her capital of strength and nervous energy, to maintain the traditions of a long line of famous housewives.

"Are we degenerating?" she asks. "As it be that with all our powders and polishes, our special soaps and brushes, our vacuum cleaners, our dustless dusters and fireless cookers, our gas ranges and electric irons, we are still unable to accomplish what our grandmothers achieved with the simple equipment of their day?"

What you have not considered, dear madam, is this: that all these modern dirt-destroyers hardly counterbalance the modern makers of dirt.

Your grandmother lived on a quiet country road, where there were no passing automobiles to raise clouds of dust. Her dairy lane and linen were not soiled by a shopping trip in a soft-soled city. Her carpets were not smudged by the trackings from oil-treated streets. Her days were not soiled by cleaning innumerable sets of special table silver, or polishing hardwood floors. That is why she could take her knitting and run over to her neighbor's for a long, leisurely afternoon call.

Housekeeping may be taught in the schools as a science, but it must be practiced in the home as an art; and that means that the housekeeper must cultivate a sense of proportion. No home is well ordered in which mistakes has become servant, and the tasks that ought to be but household duties to the home life are allowed to crack the slave-driver's whip. And no woman is a really good housekeeper until she has learned that the rearing angel may charge against her many things more serious than leaving her supper dishes until the next morning—'Tenth's Companion.

Salmon Sandwiches—Chop cabbage very fine. Stir into salmon which has been well broken up, and add salt, pepper and enough lemon juice to make rather sour.

Fruit and Nut Sandwiches—Chop raisins, figs and English walnuts together. Add enough sweet cream to make the mixture spread well. Put between the slices of Graham bread.

Chicken Sandwiches—Chopped chicken or turkey can be mixed with the lettuce or cabbage and mayonnaise for filling. These meats mixed alone with barely enough mayonnaise to make them spread will be found very appetizing when placed between thin slices of bread with a small spoonful of cranberry sauce.

Plain Lettuce Sandwiches—Lettuce soaked in salt water an hour, then placed between thin, lightly buttered slices of white bread, spread very lightly with mayonnaise makes a delicate tea sandwich.

Marshmallow Surprises—For a sweet sandwich, dissolve a dozen marshmallows in a double boiler or over the steam of the teakettle. When melted, beat in a quarter of a pound of chopped raisins, and, if you wish, a few nuts, and spread between thin slices of bread and butter. Tiny sandwiches of sliced cake are delicious with this filling.

Sandwiches of Fig Paste—Nuts, figs, and raisins chopped together, with a tablespoonful of peanut butter to each cupful of fruit, makes a delicious sandwich.

Ginger Sandwiches—In an emergency, sandwiches may be quickly made from a jar of Canton ginger. Cut the ginger in very fine pieces, and lay between unbuttered slices of white bread. If you have any dates to add to the filling, it makes a wonderful combination.

Ham Sandwiches—One cupful of finely-chopped ham, one-half tablespoonful of finely-chopped olives, one-half tablespoonful of finely-chopped pickles, three tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise dressing. Spread the mixture between lightly-buttered slices of white bread.

It is understood their plan was to continue to Berlin, N. H. Having read the item in the Lewiston Journal, relative to the disappearance of the girls, Constable Swan of Locke's Mills mistrusted that these two girls might be the runaways and immediately investigated and found that he had "guessed right."
